FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

EPYGRAPH STUDIO ANNOUNCES THE END OF ITS INVOLVEMENT WITH “PROJECT CORDOBA”

“Project Ariadne,” a new internal initiative, begins development.

Córdoba, Argentina – April 1, 2025 – Epygraph Studio, an independent studio specializing in narrative-driven and genre-blending video games, announces today that it will no longer oversee development on PROJECT CORDOBA. The project has moved into private hands and will no longer be promoted or further developed by the studio.

Epygraph expresses its deepest gratitude to everyone who supported PROJECT CORDOBA throughout its development. “We poured our hearts and over two years of development into this universe. While we step away from this title, we remain proud of what we built and the community that gathered around it,” said Sergio Lepore, founder and director of Epygraph Studio.

A New Project: Project Ariadne

The studio shifted its creative focus to a new internal initiative, Project Ariadne. While details remain under wraps, Project Ariadne continues Epygraph Studio’s commitment to immersive storytelling—this time through an action role-playing experience set in an arcanepunk world shaped by lost relics, forbidden ruins, and ancient conspiracies. Currently in early pre-production, the game explores the thrill and danger of uncovering what was meant to stay buried.

More information about Project Ariadne will be revealed in Q1 2026.

About Epygraph Studio

Epygraph Studio is an independent game development team based in Argentina. Founded with the vision of crafting emotionally resonant, narrative-driven games, the studio is currently focused on developing its first commercial title, Project Ariadne, following the studio’s transition away from PROJECT CORDOBA.

For more information about PROJECT CORDOBA and Epygraph Studio, visit www.epygraph-studio.com, www.epygraph-studio.com/about, or contact us at press@epygraph-studio.com.

Follow Epygraph Studio on X (@EpygraphStudio) and join the Discord community for exclusive updates.

Press Contact

press@epygraph-studio.com

Assets

No new media assets will be released for PROJECT CORDOBA. A future press kit for Project Ariadne will be available closer to its reveal.